4 Where we get the data?

We obtain information primarily from the following sources: yourself, civil registers, public authorities, credit reference agencies, contact information providers and other similar trusted sources.

In addition, personal data may also be collected and updated for the purposes described in this Privacy Policy from publicly available sources and on the basis of information obtained from public authorities or other third parties, within the limits of applicable law. Such updating is carried out manually or by automated means.

5 To whom we disclose and transfer data and whether we transfer data outside the EU or EEA?

We do not disclose the information in the register to third parties.

We make use of subcontractors working for us to process personal data. We have outsourced the IT management to an external service provider, on a server managed and protected by them.

No personal data is transferred outside the EU or EEA.

6 How we protect your data and how long we keep it?

Only those of our employees who are entitled to process customer data as part of their job are entitled to use the system containing personal data. Each user has his/her own user name and password for the system. The data is collected in databases protected by firewalls, passwords and other technical means. The databases and their backups are located in locked premises and are accessible only to certain predefined persons.

We regularly assess the necessity of data retention in the light of applicable law. In addition, we will take reasonable steps to ensure that no personal data relating to data subjects which are incompatible with the purposes of the processing, outdated or inaccurate are kept in the register. We will correct or destroy such data without undue delay.

7 What are your rights as a registered user?

You have the right to inspect the personal data stored about you and to request the rectification or erasure of any inaccurate, outdated, unnecessary or unlawful data. If you have access to your data yourself, you can edit your data yourself. To the extent that the processing is based on consent, you also have the right to withdraw or modify your consent at any time. Withdrawal of consent does not affect the lawfulness of the processing that took place before the withdrawal of consent.

You have the right to object to or request restriction of the processing of your data and to lodge a complaint about the processing of your personal data with a supervisory authority.

For specific personal reasons, you also have the right to object to processing operations concerning you where there is a legitimate interest in the processing. When making your request, you should identify the specific situation on the basis of which you object to the processing. We can only refuse to comply with a request to object on the grounds provided for by law.

8 Whom can you contact?

All communications and requests concerning this document should be made in writing or in person to the contact person named in section 2.

9 Amendments to this policy

When we make changes to this policy, we will update the new policy on our website and indicate the date of the update. If the changes we make are significant, we may inform you by other means, such as sending an email to registered users or posting a notice on our website. We recommend that you check this policy regularly to stay informed of any changes.
